PUBLICATIONS
The Early New Zealand Books Collection developed by the University of Auckland Libraries and Learning Services. It aims to provide a complete online full-text and keyword-searchable corpus of books about NZ which were published in the first two-thirds of the 19th century. Memoirs and collections of letters and journals from the period which were published later are also included. Accounts by early travellers provide information about traditional Maori society and culture as well as early European settlement. In some cases selected chapters have been digitised where the remainder of the content is not relevant to NZ. Illustrations and maps in books have also been digitised, with higher resolution versions available by clicking on the images in the text.	http://www.enzb.auckland.ac.nz/

Handy Hints for Online Searching (With acknowledgement to the University of Waikato Library for these searching tips)

TECHNIQUES	EXAMPLES
Keywords Use keywords rather than sentences when searching online.	Cambridge militia Star redoubt
Adapt your search terms if the first ones you try don't get results. Think of the three Ws: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Who are you researching? What are you researching? Where are you researching? 	Name of individual or group Topics Place or type of organisation
Apply phrase searching. Use quotation marks to treat words as a phrase	"3rd Waikato Militia" "Women's Suffrage"
Truncation If a word has several possible endings, use a truncation symbol (usually an asterisk, sometimes a question mark. This tells the system to search for the variant endings.	Use teach* to search for teach, teacher, teachers, teaches, teaching
Wild card If you want to include several different spellings of a word use the wild card symbol.	Wom?n for searching both woman and women
Synonyms	Primary or elementary; alcohol or liquor
